

Umantis Applicant Management Basic

The perfect applicant management software for SMEs

The basic version of Umantis applicant management software is perfectly designed for the recruitment needs of small and medium-sized enterprises. We support you in quickly and easily digitising your recruitment processes.

Streamlined processes, implemented quickly

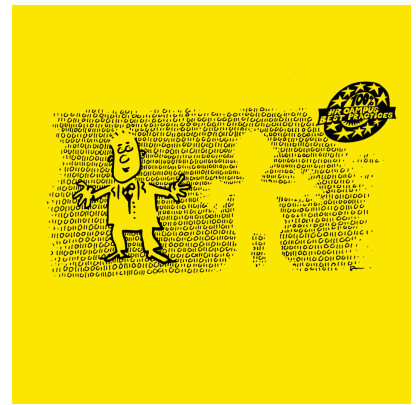

The current situation has made it more obvious than ever how important it is to digitise processes. Applicant management and recruitment processes in particular tend to offer potential for optimisation. Streamlined, intelligent processes that take the strain off daily work, combined with simple implementation, are key here. At the same time, your preferred talent must be able to submit and manage their application as easily as possible. This is the only way to really generate added value. With the basic version, you'll benefit from best practice processes. The best thing? Umantis Applicant Management Basic can be implemented at your site and ready to use in under two days.

Up to 25 external job adverts

The basic version is perfect for the needs of companies with up to 300 (Umantis will clarify: 500 or 300? May need to be changed) employees. All important processes are provided with optimal support – e.g. publishing of job ads. In this basic version, you can put up to 25 job ads online at the same time.

Fast reaction times

Fast reaction times can be key if you want to win the best talent. Applicant Management Basic helps you simplify and speed up many processes with the help of automated emails.
